Software Product Announcement

Lighting Analysts, Inc. releases ElumTools™ 2012 Release 2 with Network Licensing

Littleton, Colorado, USA – December 15, 2011 – Lighting Analysts, Inc., a world leader in calculation and visualization software for the lighting design professional, is proud to announce that ElumTools 2012 Release 2 is now available.

Release 2 of the 2012 Revit plug-in product adds network license capability to enable end users to leverage their license purchases across client-server work groups of any size and geographic location as served by their corporate network. In addition, a number of enhancements to the visualization viewer and the calculation point display add usability features requested by early adopters.

Lighting Analysts has extended the free subscription offer through January 30, 2012. Subscription provides a free upgrade to the 2013 release when available and priority support contacts.
